[escort] "The first night I worked, and the first job I did was with another worker. Within fifteen minutes of starting I didn't know where anything was in the room. So I'd say number one, acquaint yourself with the room. Later I found out things like: there were tapes in the room that lasted one hour and when they finished time was up. They had every thing in the room, condoms, lube, dildos, even poppers ... This was 1987 to 88. There was also a problem with my first client because he was so small and it was really hard to get a condom on. I just had to sort of hold it there. Then he wanted to keep changing partners, first me, then the other guy, so we had to keep changing the condoms, that is really important. Even going from oral to anal I used to change the condom. We went through tons of condoms."

Q. Have you had any trouble with condoms?

[escort] "Sometimes they wont unroll or won't fit. It is a matter of finding the right brand for you. It's important to squeeze out the air from the nipple. If the guy's circumcised get it over the head and half way down, then get the air out - make sure you leave enough nipple - imagine the guy's going to shoot tons. Sometimes I had trouble with guys that weren't circumcised, especially if they had a big foreskin. With one client the foreskin was so big it would not roll back - so I held the foreskin down, and put the condom on and held it the whole time - most of the time he was fucking my hand anyway."

Q. What if you have a difficult client?

[escort] "I was on an out-call one night, and when I got there I rang in etc., and that was ok. We went into the bedroom to have sex and the guy had been told that I wasn't prepared to be fucked (because he had a reputation with the other guys that I worked with for being huge). He was cool about it on the phone with the manager. Of course, when we were naked and in the bedroom he decided that he wanted to fuck me. He was a much bigger person than me, and I put up a big fight. But there was nothing I could do to stop him, so I just had to lay there and take it. I don't know to this day if he used a condom or not. I was more worried about any damage he might have done to me. That was the last time I worked as well."

[escort] "I had this client that just wasn't near cumming and I was getting sore. He would not stop because as far as he was concerned he was paying for it etc ... So I pretended that I was about to cum. I started to gyrate around and moan, sometimes it works. Some of them like their nipples squeezed, or get a hand full of testicle, where the testicles are attached to the body, grab and pull - it's usually the ones that like their nipples pulled that like their balls being pulled. On a first encounter it's hard to know what to do, it's easier if they're a regular ... Another one is to get your finger between their arse and dick and press, sometimes that helps them along."

Q. What were you told or what do you wish you'd been told ?

[escort] "Don't be couch cast, that is sleeping with the owner or one of their friends, so that they can try you out before you get the job - they don't have the right to make you a charity. But if they want to pay for it, then fine."

[escort] "There was a big expectation with clients that you came. If you couldn't cum you had to come up with comments like: "I just had a client half an hour ago". That's not always a good idea because every client I ever had used to think that he was the only one. I used to use a lot of tricks though. My favourite was to have the client laying on his back hopefully with his eyes closed ... So a good firm spit in their stomachs and a groan at the right time, then rub it in quickly, then tell them how wonderful it was for you, ha, it always worked for me."

[escort] "We were expected to do feel like being fucked, you put your fist around your arse and they'd fuck that, they didn't know of course. It is something that I would practise in your personal life before you do it for work because you don't want to get sprung."

Q. Is there any other advice for someone starting out?

[escort] "Don't take drugs or alcohol while you are working, even poppers (amyl/rush). A lot of people like using poppers with sex but when you are working I used to just put my finger over the top of the bottle and take a big sniff, the client thinks that you have used it that way you are still in control. Drugs allow you to do things that you wouldn't usually do, and in this business control is a really big thing. You've got to be assertive, but not to the point where you fuck the client off and end up not making any money.

[escort] "It's a good idea to have a store of stories, because one regular that I had used to just want me to lay on top of him and tell him lots of dirty stories while he wanked. It's also good for guys that are taking forever to cum."

[escort] "Before you start working, find out the bad parts of the job. Even though people think that sex work is gross, a lot of them still think that it's great to get paid for something that you enjoy. Let's face it, most of the people we have paid sex with we wouldn't touch with a ten foot barge pole! I never had any tom cruise look-alikes."
